

Policy Works vodcast transcript:

My name is Erica Morris from The Higher Education Academy. I am the lead author of a new publication called Policy Works. This has recommendations for universities and colleges so they can improve their policy and practice for unacceptable academic practice in students such as plagiarism, collusion, data fabrication.

The publication also has examples so you can learn from others experiences in higher education. The publication is now available on The Higher Education Academy website.